REPORT ROME MAY BE STRONGLY DEFENDED

By J. C. OESTREICHER
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

Adolf Hitler has abandoned his attempted conquest of Russia in a desperate effort to safeguard Nazi Germany against Allied invasion.

This momentous development in the war which Hitler started in 1939 and waged the way he wanted to for almost three years became evident today in battlefield dispatches which made clear that Hitler has decided his sole hope of salvation lies in safeguarding the bomb-battered Reich from land assault.

Enormous Cost

At the cost of enormous territorial losses in the Soviet union, including loss of the Caucasus, most of the Ukraine and probable abandonment of the Crimea, Hitler threw forty new divisions into Italy and the Balkans, creating a wall of steel that now stands between advancing Allied armies and the core of the German homeland. This massive reinforcement of Nazi strength in the south of Europe had no immediate effect on the central Italian battlefield. There troops of the United States Fifth Army under Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark and the British Eighth Army of Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery moved steadily forward, capturing six more strategic towns and threatening to turn the German retreat south of Rome into a disorderly rout.

PA NEW OBSERVES

The effect of the rain which has fallen in the last two days is already visible on parched lawns, which were burned brown by the sun and lack of water in the past six weeks. A hint of green could be noticed on even the worst of them this morning.

These are days when motorists should drive with extreme caution when they are on streets covered by leaves. Leaves are almost as slippery as ice when one puts the brakes on suddenly, as some motorists have already found out.

While the heavy rain of last night came at an inopportune time for the high school football game, it was welcomed by the community, putting an end to the long dry spell that has existed for weeks. The rain also brought down great quantities of leaves from the trees.

Youngsters around the city will do well to heed the warning of the police chief about halloween pranks this month. The police chief gave particular warning about boys staying off the property of other people and pointed out that complications are liable to develop due to conditions prevailing in the city. Stay off other people's property.

Activity is in evidence on East Washington street as the contractor inaugurates the preliminary work necessary to starting resurfacing of that thoroughfare. It is indicated that the work is to be speeded.

Indications are that the work of repairing the South Mill street bridge is approaching completion. For several weeks busses on the Mahoningtown line have been required to detour because of blocking of this bridge, and the schedule has been considerably handicapped. (Continued On Page Two)

Shock Troops Aiding Allies In Advance On Road Leading To Rome

By CAPTAIN JOHN H. CRAIGIE
(Written Especially for International News Service)

A neat amphibious end run around the mouth of the Volturno river has given the hard fighting American-British armies in Italy another dozen miles on the road to Rome.

As on previous occasions in the Italian campaign, when United Nations forces reached a Nazi line too strong to be taken by direct assault without heavy casualties, a force was sent to side-step by sea around the flank of the German positions and catch its defenders in the rear.

Commanders led.

In this instance, apparently for the first time in Italy, a British commando battalion was used.

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN
THE SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Oct. 16.—Three more Japanese airdromes on New Britain Island, whose major base of Rabaul suffered the war's most telling attack on Tuesday, staggered today under heavy Allied air assaults.

Gen. Douglas MacArthur's command announced that Allied airmen pounded airdromes and enemy installations at Cape Hoskins, at Lindenham near Gasmata, and at Cape Gloucester. Bombing and strafing sweeps were conducted by other United Nations airmen from Cape Gloucester to Sag, on the coast of New Britain.

The continuing air offensive against Jap positions in the Southwest-Pacific swept in growing fury not only over New Britain Island. (Continued On Page Two)

Need Postwar Agreement Says Sumner Welles

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state, declared today that the time has come for the United States to formulate its post-war policies, and to reach a basic understanding with the three other major powers of the United Nations.

Welles, in the first public pronouncement since his recent resignation from the State Department after 10½ years service, told the silver anniversary luncheon of the Foreign Policy Association this afternoon that:

"Unless the British, Soviet, Chinese and United States governments arrive jointly at a clear-cut and specific agreement in the near future upon certain basic principles, the hope of the creation of a stable world in the post-war years must necessarily be all but illusory."

He warned, too, "We must clearly realize that the longer the effort to find such an agreement is postponed, the more difficult the task will become."

WOMAN FAILS TO IDENTIFY HERSELF

City police today were waiting for the woman driver of a car which when operated from the Shenango Pottery parking ground Friday struck and injured Robert Smiley, seven, schoolboy, en route home from school. The car bumped the boy, but she did not identify herself. Police said today they propose sending after her unless she voluntarily appears.

BODY OF WOMAN FOUND IN RIVER IS IDENTIFIED

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16.—(INS)—The body of a woman found in the Ohio river at Pittsburgh yesterday was identified by authorities today as being that of Mrs. Laura Gregg, 49, who had been missing from her Mt. Washington home since Thursday.

TWO INCHES OF RAIN

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Rain which broke a 27-day dry spell in western Pennsylvania was expected to continue today with a slight dip in temperatures. More than two inches of rain fell in the Pittsburgh district yesterday, the weather bureau indicated.

(International News Service)

CENTERVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 16.—The smoldering wreckage of a missing American Airlines plane was found today about 12 miles east of Centerville, and first reports stated that all 10 persons aboard were dead.

A farmer came upon the wreckage. He reported there were no signs of life among the scattered debris that lay strewn over a rough terrain.

NAVY BLIMP IN CRASH OFF COAST

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—(INS)—The fourth naval district announced today that a navy blimp crashed 200 yards off the New Jersey shore near Barnegat Inlet at 10 o'clock this morning.

The accident occurred in a fog, the navy said.

The number of men aboard was not announced, pending an investigation, nor would the navy spokesmen comment on whether there were any casualties.

The blimp was operating from the naval air station at Lakehurst. The navy declined to discuss the cause of the accident, other than to say it occurred in a fog.

Copious Rain Ends Dry Spell

Lawrence county farmers lay in bed last night and listened to the rain pouring down on the roof with a great amount of satisfaction. The downpour which saw more than an inch and a half of rain fall in 24 hours, ended a drought which has extended over a six-week period.

During the month of September, less than an inch of rain fell, which soon dried up under hot sun, and farmers were beginning to feel the effects of the dry spell as their wells and springs dried up.

Last night's bountiful rain, however, will end all that. It also brought an end to forest fire threats in Pennsylvania's woodland areas.

Nazis Disregard Rome As Open City

MADRID, Oct. 16.—(INS)—German disregard of former Axis assertions that Rome should be treated as an open city was stressed today in a dispatch to a leading Madrid newspaper from its correspondent in Berlin.

The correspondent, writing direct from the capital of the Reich, reported that "the Germans mean to fight on and force the Allies to make a supreme effort in order to occupy Rome."

British Destroyers Intercept Two Ships

ALGIERS, Oct. 16.—(INS)—British destroyers operating in the Adriatic sea were revealed today to have intercepted two Italian ships which the Germans had pressed into service.

Allied headquarters announced that the vessels—one a freighter carrying bauxite, and the other a tanker—carried German armed guards.

When intercepted, the Germans set the freighter afire, and the British vessels had to sink it. However, the tanker was seized and taken to an allied port.

MOSCOW, Oct. 16.—Hundreds of additional German troops seeking to escape the fast-developing Russian drive to clear the Crimea today were hurled to their deaths in the waters of the broad Dnieper river.

Other Soviet forces, engaged in bitter bayonet fighting with Nazi troops in the streets of Melitopol. As Red army units which captured the strategic rail and industrial center of Zaporozhe on the left bank of the lower Dnieper pressed south and west of the city, remnants of the German garrison sought to escape across the river. The Soviet midnight communiqué reported that they were "for the most part wiped out or captured."

"Some 1,500 officers and men were drowned," the bulletin added. The Russian soldiers pressing southward along the railway to Melitopol and the Crimea captured a number of inhabited localities, including Kuchugan, some five miles below captured Zaporozhe. The Pivni railway station, 10 miles south-southwest of the latter city, also was liberated by the Red army.

Reinforcements Being Rushed To German Fronts

Send New Troops To Italy
And Yugoslavia Is Report In London

LONDON, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Nazi military commanders, hit hard by allied advances in Italy and by guerrilla successes in Yugoslavia, were reported by well-informed sources in London today to be rushing reinforcements to both those theaters.

Late information reaching the British capital was said by these sources to confirm earlier reports that the Germans were mustering all available strength to bolster their sagging lines in both these regions.

A total of some 40 divisions, split equally between Italy and Yugoslavia, were said to be concentrated there in an attempt to check the pace of the allied advances beyond the Volturno river on the Italian mainland and to prevent Yugoslavian patriot bands from further threatening the Nazi grip on that nation's strategic ports and communications centers.

At the same time, a Madrid dispatch to International News Service quoted the Berlin correspondent of a leading newspaper in the Spanish capital as writing that the Reich has decided to wage a showdown battle for possession of Rome.

"The Germans mean to fight on and force the allies to make a supreme effort in order to occupy" the Italian capital, the correspondent said.

Last Of Holiday Mail To Soldiers Is Now On Its Way

Packages From Now On Can Only Be Sent At Request
Of Soldier

No more Christmas packages for men in the army overseas can be accepted at the local post office, the deadline having ended at 6 o'clock Friday evening. During the last day of the Christmas overseas mail rush, 12,000 packages were handled. Postmaster William R. Hanna stated today, making more than 27,000 packages handled in the final two days.

Christmas packages for men in the navy, coast guard and marine corps will be accepted up until November 1 under the same conditions which have existed for the army, but no one can send a package to a soldier overseas now unless he has a specific request from the soldier.

However, with the great number of packages which were mailed, it is believed that few boys will be missed, and quite a few will get many.

In order to avoid the last minute rush to the men in the navy, coast guard and marines, folks should send their packages right away, as only two more weeks remain in which one can send packages to these men.

PHYSICIANS HOPE NEW DRUG WILL SAVE GIRL

HARRISBURG, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Fifteen-year-old Helen Kostik remained in a critical condition at Harrisburg hospital today as physicians banked on the miracle drug penicillin to save her from a blood stream infection.

A supply of penicillin was rushed to the Middletown girl by state police who brought it from Philadelphia in relays. The drug was released from military supplies by Dr. John S. Lockwood, member of the National Research Council and of the University of Pennsylvania hospital staff.

COL. CHURCH BENEFICIARIES PITTSBURGH, OCT. 16.

(INS)—The widow and four children of Col. Samuel Harden Church, president of Carnegie Institute and widely known educator and publicist who died Monday, today were named chief beneficiaries under provisions of his will.

The estate consists of personal property of unestimated value. There was no real estate. To each of the children he bequeathed $100 and left the remainder to his wife, Bertha Reinhardt Church.

ANNOUNCE TWO FLIERS ARE KILLED IN CRASHES

ROME, Oct. 16.—(INS)—The Roman army air base announced today that two fliers were killed in separate crashes yesterday.

Lieut. Walter E. Stafford, Jr., of Florence, S. C., was killed instantly when his fighter plane crashed at Laureville, O.

A second pilot whose name was withheld, pending notification of next of kin, died in a routine flight at Phoenix, Ariz.

British troops were put ashore (1) behind the enemy rear north of the Volturno river and are fighting their way inland as Fifth Army troops sent the Nazis reeling back two to five miles (2) from the coast to the Appennine Mountains. In a flanking drive up the east coast and through the central mountains, the British Eighth Army advanced about six miles (3) on the Terni-Naples road. Flying Fortresses blasted the Terni rail yards (4) and scored hits on factories while Liberators attacked the coast rail system (5) to disrupt the movement of enemy reinforcements and supplies to the Eighth Army front.

Luftwaffe Makes Fourth Term Brief Appearance In Volturno Area

By GRAHAM HOVEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALGIERS, Oct. 16.—In an obvious effort to help German ground forces disengage themselves from the American fifth army, the Luftwaffe made one of its rare appearances over the Volturno battle area in the last 24 hours, but paid heavily for its recklessness.

At least six enemy planes were shot down during aerial combats over the battle area itself while many others were hit on the ground during widespread attacks by British and American fliers.

Scatter Formation

Allied fighters intercepted more than 50 Messerschmitt-109s early yesterday morning and scattered the entire formation. In the afternoon a second flight of eight Messerschmitts attacked the same area only to have five of their number shot down and others damaged also destroyed during the day's operations was a Junkers-88 bomber.

German Retreat At Volturno May Turn Into Rout

Allied Forces Capture More
Towns And Advance Up
To Seven Miles

HASTY WITHDRAWAL OF NAZIS LOOMING

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

ALGIERS, Oct. 16.—The orderly German retreat northward from the Volturno river threatened to turn into a rout today when American and British forces seized six strategic towns and scored new territorial gains ranging up to seven miles on the flaming front.

Chief new Allied prize was Vinchiaturo, which highway 16 miles northwest across favorable terrain to Isernia, whose capture will force a hasty withdrawal of the entire western section of the German line through a narrow escape corridor.

Also Captured

Also taken were Campobasso, Caizzo, Carveto, Amorosi and Morone. Both the United States Fifth Army of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark and the British Eighth under Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery pushed forward with ever-increasing speed.

For the present the Nazi retreat continues to be orderly, with mines planted everywhere and extensive new demolitions carried out. The German air force also put in an appearance, divebombing improvised bridges over the Volturno to hamper transport of reinforcements and supplies. Five Nazi planes were shot down in one sector, and a sixth in another.

Fifth Army advances during the day ranged from one mile on the west end of Gen. Clark's front to 2½ miles in the center, where Amorosi was taken. Authoritative quarters were inclined to take the view that the Volturno battle may now be regarded as won, although heavy fighting still lies ahead on the road to Rome.

Seeks Return Of Indiana Miners

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 16.—(INS)—Thomas R. Hutson, Indiana commissioner of labor, conferred with officials of District 11, United Mine Workers, in Terre Haute today in an attempt to bring 3,500 miners back to the pits.

The workers in a dozen mines of Indiana walked out yesterday, and fears were expressed that the strike would spread to all shaft mines by Monday, to affect more than 8,000 miners.

Louis E. Austin, president of District 11, refused to comment on the situation but Hutson said he had been told that the miners were using the absence of new contracts with the operators as an excuse for the walkout.

Train And Bus Crash In West

Six Persons Are Reported
Dead In Collision In California

THIRTY MORE ARE REPORTED INJURED

TRACY, Cal., Oct. 15.—The death toll in the crash of a speeding passenger train and a Greyhound bus near Tracy, California, today stood at six, with another victim having died in a Stockton hospital.

Thirty persons were reported injured in the crash which occurred when the Western Pacific "Exposition Flyer" struck the rear of the bus which had stalled on the tracks at Rhoades station, five miles south-east of Tracy.

The loaded bus enroute from Los Angeles, was turned completely around by the impact and thrown upside down.

Brakes Fail To Hold
The bus driver, Richard Manning, 43, of Oakland, told authorities that his brakes failed to hold when he attempted to stop at the crossing. As a result, he said, the bus stalled on the tracks. He then saw the train rushing down on him from about 300 yards away.

"I tried to throw the bus into reverse," he said, "but the gears jammed. Passengers were screaming and crowding up to the front of the bus. I threw open the door and leaped out. Several persons followed me."

Authorities and volunteers labored an hour extricating the dead and injured from the shattered wreckage of the bus.

Following is a list of the identified and tentatively identified:

The identified dead were Gomer J. Jenkins, 41, Berkeley, Cal., and Joseph H. Boyd, 38, Wichita Falls, Tex.

Tentatively identified were Kenneth Hunkley of San Francisco; Charles Walter Johnson, 48, San Francisco; Mrs. E. Tomlinson, about 60, Fresno, Calif., and a naval yeoman, unidentified pending notification of next of kin.

city after breaking stubborn enemy resistance.

In this sector, the Germans brought up fresh troops transferred from other parts of the 1,800-mile long eastern front. Their numerous counter-attacks were repulsed and 2,000 of the Nazis killed. Of the Melipot street fighting, the Soviet communiqué said the Germans had barricaded themselves in factories and a church in the center of the town.

"Our men with grenades and bayonets cleared the Germans from the factories, church and several streets," it continued.

On Kiev Front
Fierce fighting raged on the Kiev front, North and south of the Kiev largest city in Russia. The Russians sought to extend their bridgeheads across the Dnieper. They encountered several Nazi counter-attacks and in one, which lasted several hours, the Soviet troops knocked out 67 of 100 attacking Nazi tanks and wiped out one of two enemy infantry regiments.

The Russians advancing on Gomel also met stiff German resistance. While activity north of the White Russian city appeared confined to artillery duels, on the south the Nazis launched several "violent" counter attacks to throw back the red army units which had reached the western bank of the Sozh river. All these enemy sallies were beaten off by Soviets who improved their position.

The Soviet fleet air arms in the Barents and Baltic seas were active. Two enemy supply ships were sunk and two others damaged by the Russians in the Barents Sea; also sunk was a German escort vessel. Russian airmen downed 15 Nazi aircraft in battles over the convoy. In the Baltic, a small tanker was sunk.

The same communiqué reported 93 other enemy planes downed, and the knocking out of action of 113 German tanks.

New York, Oct. 16.—Dispatches from the Russian front quoted by the British radio today reported that half the town of Melipot is in Soviet hands.

The BBC broadcast was recorded by CBS.

BELIEVE HITLER FORCED TO DRAW HIS TROOPS BACK

Berlin said that the Germans had decided to make a real fight for Rome, despite earlier Nazi protestations it should be treated as an open city. This remained problematic, however, for a number of reasons.

One is that Rome is not easily defensible. The campaign immediately to the south consists of gently undulating territory, marked by the ancient aqueducts and roads of the Appian way.

The second is that Germany and Austria have large Roman Catholic populations. Despite his systematic persecution of the church, Hitler never has gone the whole way in alienating the religious who live under his rule.

Despite the teachings of so-called Cultural Minister Alfred Rosenberg, that the Nazi party can be Germany's only church, there remain in the Reich power and outspoken Catholic dignitaries. The last Fulda conference of Roman Catholic bishops drafted a resolution of stinging rebuke to the Nazis.

Yet with few exceptions, Catholic churches, prelates and laymen have not been greatly molested. Hitler has never gone so far as to make bitter enemies of the millions of Catholics who live in Bavaria and in Austria.

To make of Rome a battlefield, however, might well have just this effect. Nazi propagandists made much out of the American bombing raid on military objectives in Rome and Hitler could gain a great deal by handing Rome over to the allies to spare the eternal city and the Vatican from further horrors of war.

The extent to which Hitler is withdrawing his forces from Russia to meet the allied threat in the west, was emphasized by Soviet progress at Gomel, pivot of the whole Nazi defense in white Russia and at Melipot, which guards the Crimea.

Hitler's fears of new allied invasions may have been enhanced by steady bombing attacks upon airfields in the Salonika region of Greece.

certain abuses which will ultimately destroy a democratic government."

In his speech at Kiel auditorium in St. Louis, the Hoosier Republican bitterly criticized the Roosevelt foreign policy.

Failed To Tell People
The present administration, he said, failed "to tell us of the Japanese threats reported to the president by Ambassador Grew long prior to Pearl Harbor." He termed the recently issued state department white paper: "A white paper of a black record."

Willkie denounced the government's "appeasement." The only result of the "concealment and appeasement," he said, "was that we as a nation remained unarmed and unprepared."

Willkie castigated the record of the New Dealers at home as well as abroad. He said, "perhaps many of the billions wasted by the administration between 1932 and 1940 might have been given necessary employment and at the same time built a great armed force."

Outlines Five Points
In his speech, Willkie outlined five points in broad terms for which the Republican party must stand in order to bring about expanding opportunity for every American.

They were:
1—Elimination of government waste and socially unnecessary expenditures and modification of income taxes.
2—Enforcement of present laws, or if necessary, passage of additional laws to make our enterprise system completely competitive.

3—Adoption of a wise labor policy, unlike the present one "which divides our country into warring factions of labor leaders and business executives, forcing each to jockey for power and struggle to convert political parties to its purpose."

4—A far-seeing farm policy not based "upon the administration's doctrine of scarcity during the years of great depression nor upon its paternalistic, petty interferences, its manipulated and distorted markets."

5—Expansion and development of opportunity for all through international cooperative economic effort.

Mrs. Charlotte Harkness, of 807 Frank avenue, has received the sad word that her son Edward Cameron's grandson, 3 years of age, at Phoenix, Arizona, perished by fire on October 7, when the Payton home was destroyed by fire. Everything was lost including $67 in money, and four bonds of $25 denomination.

The father, John Payton, is in government service as a construction worker in Alaska, and Mrs. Payton was employed in Phoenix. They have resided in Phoenix for eight years, having formerly lived here.

Mrs. Vivian Cameron, the two children's aunt, was caring for them in their mother's absence. She rescued one of the children, and was dashing into rescue the other, but was prevented by those present who feared for her life as the blaze was too fierce.

Men To Train For High Skill Sought

Tool And Die-Making Course
Offered Here, U.S.E.S.
Office Announces

Information about a highly specialized technical apprentice training course in tool-and-die-making on an earn-while-you-learn basis that is being offered by a local industrial training center, the United States Employment Service office of the War Manpower Commission, it was announced today by Manager G. O. Anderson.

Training that usually takes four years has been compressed into an intensive course of 13 months in an effort to interest men now employed in unessential activity to enter a critical occupation such as this highly skilled trade.

Capable men who are high school graduates and at least 22 years of age who are interested in this type of work, and who possess a high degree of accuracy, may obtain information about the apprentice training course from Mrs. Wilda K. Patterson at the employment office.

front when he took Vinchiatturo, Campobasso and Morrone. The Germans threw all they had into the fight to bar the British from the Adriatic port of Pescara, but crumpling of the enemy line was anticipated almost momentarily.

Rains continued to hamper activities on the entire front.

The Allies plunged forward in the center of the line to seize the important road junction of Vinchiatturo, which provides a direct route through central Italy to Rome.

Campobasso, seven miles to the northeast, also was seized.

German defenses north of the Voltorno river at the western end of the front, crumbled rapidly under punishing assaults by the Fifth Army under command of Lieut. Gen. Mark W. Clark.

Batter Forward
Troops of Gen. Clark battered their way forward to occupy Caizzo and Cervate, northeast of Capua, as badly-shattered units of the Wehrmacht began a withdrawal on several sectors. Clashes were fierce and frequent in positions north of the Voltorno mouth as the Fifth Army clung closely to the heels of the retreating Germans.

The tenacity of the American and British forces made it most difficult for the German troops to break off the fight and retreat unmolested.

Nevertheless, the enemy continues to employ widespread demolitions to delay the Allied advance. In addition to this, changeable weather impedes activity and slows the work of Allied patrols.

Enemy opposition still is strong in several sections of the Voltorno valley, but tanks are passing over newly-constructed Allied bridges. Nazi efforts to prevent enlargement of the Anglo-American bridgeheads were desperate, if unsuccessful.

Bombers Aid
Seeking to disrupt the enemy retreat or reinforcement were Allied light bombers, fighter-bombers and the fighter craft which swept over the battle area and battered rear lines of communication. Much transport and several bridges north of Capua were hit by our planes, while an ammunition dump and a railway station near Petagatelo also were blasted.

The Fifth Army met increased enemy air opposition.

New advances of up to five miles were scored on the Voltorno front, according to the Cairo radio, which said that American and British troops had stormed and captured strategic heights northwest of Capua.

Headquarters, reported "good progress" in the northern sector on the Adriatic side of the front and on the central sector.

Bombing squadrons of the Northwest African Air Forces included the Nazi-held airfields at Salonika, Greece, among their assault targets in the Mediterranean area.

Lightning-escorted medium bombers caused fires and explosions when they directly hit the hangar areas at the Salonika airfields.

The German use of the Luftwaffe, for the first time in weeks, came as the enemy sought desperately to get cover for their withdrawal.

Everywhere north of the Voltorno they were being hemmed tighter by Clark's forces.

Although German planes were repeatedly swooping in to attack the Fifth Army units, the latter nevertheless pushed on across several fields and broadened their bridgehead by a mile. They then advanced to occupy all ground over a three-mile wide swath between the Voltorno and the south side of a cross-country canal.

Alabama Miners May Be Back At Work Next Week

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Top officials of the United Mine Workers Union predicted today that striking coal miners in Alabama would be back to work by Tuesday or Wednesday of next week.

John L. Lewis, UMW president, has given assurances to the War Labor Board that the union would do everything within its power to end the unauthorized walkout.

Lewis conferred with members of the WLB yesterday, it was belatedly learned today.

It was not believed, however, that local union leaders in Alabama could reach all of the miners in that field with back to work orders until the middle of the week.

STRIKE DEVELOPS

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Three hundred and seventy UAW-CIO workers at the Detroit Steel Products Spring plant struck today because two employees were fired.

The plant, which produces springs for Army trucks and amphibious vehicles, shut down completely, officials said.

Sees Old "Friend"

WHEN VINCENT CONSTANCE of New York aided sculptor Alex Calder complete an heroic statue of Lieif Erickson, Norse discoverer of America, which was presented to Iceland by the United States, he never dreamed he would ever see the statue again. But here he is—extreme left, as Pfc. Constance, U. S. Army, with a group of Icelanders looking over old Lieif.

eral Clark determined to resort once again to the leap-frogging tactics that have served the Allies so well.

The point selected for the attack, according to dispatches, was just north of the mouth of the 100-yard-wide Voltorno.

Covered By Naval Gun Fire
The job looked tough, but tough jobs are what commando-type troops are trained for. Covered by naval gun fire, the battalion assigned to the amphibious drive got ashore apparently with few losses, the men entrenching themselves behind the old Roman drainage canal paralleling the Voltorno river from which they could fire into the rear of its Nazi defenders.

There were speedily wiped out or driven away, while Allied troops and guns, awaiting the opportunity, poured across the stream. Apparently the Nazi commanders saw that their game was up, and at once began to pull out northward towards the line of the Garigliano river, about 18 miles further on the road to Rome.

Value Of Shock Troops
This amphibious feat by which the flank of the Voltorno river was turned illustrates once again the value of the new, 1943 variety of shock troops. The idea on which they are founded is old—war and is basically that of assembling small bodies of troops of extra quality to be used where decisive strokes by a few supermen can produce great strategic or tactical results.

The Romans had them in the reserve cohort of each legion, which was composed of soldiers specially selected for their size, strength and skill. George Washington's Continental army had them in the various companies of riflemen and Rangers. The present U. S. army designation is taken from Rogers' Rangers, famous in U. S. history.

Rangers have already distinguished themselves in the campaign in Italy and the Pacific. It was a U. S. Army Ranger battalion in the Salerno landing that detoured the fighting and the present U. S. army Rangers, famous in U. S. history.

AROUND CITY HALL

Employees of the Furman contracting firm yesterday afternoon commenced raising man-holes in East Washington street. When warning lights were extinguished by the rain, street department employees re-lit the torches following complaints to the police department.

Charles O'Brien, clerk, city streets department, today reported that trucks from the department are hauling away leaves. Some people who request leaves for fertilizer receive them.

City treasurer's office is still closed although clerks are working there under the supervision of controller Sidney L. Lockley and Finance Director Albert Hoyland. It has not yet been announced when the office will be reopened, but it is anticipated it will occur as soon as the bond of B. N. Hanlon is provided and approved.

EXCHANGE SHIP IS MAKING PROGRESS

LONDON, Oct. 16.—(INS)—The Danish radio, which operates under Nazi domination, reported today that the exchange ship Gripsholm has arrived in Goa, Portuguese West India.

The broadcast was heard by Exchange Telegraph.

The Gripsholm, a Swedish liner specially chartered for the purpose, is to pick up American, Canadian and Latin American Nationals previously held in Japan and occupied territories. The repatriates arrived in Marmagora, Port of Goa, yesterday.

Deaths of the Day

Grant M. Lutes

Grant M. Lutes died Friday evening at 6:50 o'clock at his home in Lake township, Mercer county, after several months illness.

Mr. Lutes was born in Norrisville, Pa., Crawford county, son of Henry and Maria Funk Lutes. He had lived in Mercer county for the past 12 years and was a farmer by occupation.

Survivors are his wife, Prudence Wilson Lutes; one son, James Lutes, at home; two sisters, Mrs. Maude Shannon, of Sharon, and Mrs. Emma Francis, of Jamestown, Pa.

Funeral services will be held at the residence in Lake township Monday afternoon at 1 o'clock. Interment will be in Greenwood Methodist church cemetery.

Friends may call at the residence at any time.

George Osterling

Mrs. L. T. Moor of Morton street received word of the sudden death of her brother, George Osterling, on Friday evening at his home in Butler.

Funeral services will be held Monday in Butler.

Panfil Funeral

Funeral services for Adam Panfil, R. D. 5, New Castle, were held this morning at 9 o'clock at the J. R. Noga funeral home, East Long avenue, with further services in Holy Trinity Polish National Catholic church, Rev. Fr. Bronislav Mazewski, pastor of the church, and Rev. Fr. Ostrowski, of Youngstown, officiated.

Palbearers were John Koszela, Joseph Niemczyk, Walter Potoczny, N. Datta, A. Ordak and A. Niekrasz. Interment was in Holy Trinity cemetery.

Plot To Break
Jail Is Charged

CINCINNATI, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Charles Lievers, 17-year-old AWOL Canadian soldier who is being held on a federal kidnapping charge, was named in a federal warrant today as plotting a jail break from the Hamilton county jail.

The plot, in which three other U. S. prisoners were also named, was revealed late Friday when warrants against Lievers, who formerly lived at Evansville, Ind., and three others were signed by U. S. Commissioner J. Paul Geoghegan.

The other three were Jack R. Rowland, 17, of Dayton, O., under sentence for motor theft who was moved to Chillicothe reformatory last Wednesday; Alfred Waggoner, 34, Detroit, alleged draft evader who was released from custody last Thursday when the charge was dropped; and Cecil O. Chambers, 32, Kitts Hill, Ohio, charged with illegally wearing an Army uniform.

Sees No Reduction In War Expenses

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(INS)—The House Ways and Means committee was warned today by Rep. Cannon (D) Mo., chairman of the appropriations committee, not to expect any substantial cuts in war expenditures. Cannon asserted that if the high command asked for more money "we are going to furnish too much rather than too little if there is any doubt about it in our minds."

Cannon's statements appeared to sweep into discard the proposal of House Republicans that the administration's request for a 10 billion 100 million increase in the tax burden be slashed by approximately 50 per cent and the difference be rendered unnecessary through economies in government.

Latest Atrocity Of Nazis Revealed

MOSCOW, Oct. 16.—(INS)—To the long list of German atrocities was added another today—the savage slaughter of some 6,000 women, children and aged persons at Kratatorsk.

This latest atrocity came to light with the discovery of a mass grave near Kratatorsk which was taken from the Nazis last month, Soviet quarters said.

Mass executions, according to data compiled by investigators, began in January, 1942. "The blackest day" in the city's history was described as that on which German squads armed with tommy-guns began the campaign leaving 400 bodies in a hillside grave within a single day.

Thieves Reported
To Have Stolen Car
Owned By Officer

Auto Later Returned; Two
Other Cars Are Sought
By Police

Apparently some persons who like to "borrow" autos without the consent of owners are no respecters of persons. At least, indications are they are not because last night someone "borrowed" the auto of Patrolman Tom Farrow of the city police force, which was parked in Moravia street. Later the car was found parked in an alley near the spot from which it was stolen.

Other cars reportedly stolen yesterday and now being sought are owned by Lewis George, 1008 Cunningham avenue, a Dodge sedan, carrying Pennsylvania license 1943-G14748, and a Ford Pennsylvania 1942 license 7DZ32. The latter lives at Export, Pa. The car owned by George was stolen from in front of his residence. The Nesbit car was stolen from Cochran way.

Several days ago police arrested three boys who said they had been taking cars and returning them.

MORE AIRDROMES
ON NEW BRITAIN
ISLAND BOMBED

It included operations against enemy positions in the Tenimbers, on Timor, Rook and Bougainville islands together with a heavy raid on the Alexishafen airdrome on New Guinea.

At Cape Gloucester, heaviest hit in the new assaults, heavy bombers blasted the drome with 42 tons of bombs. Runways were damaged, while fires were left burning throughout the base. Medium units, meanwhile, ranged from the Cape to Sag Sag, strafing and bombing enemy-held villages, and blasting five Jap barges.

Other four-motored bombers damaged buildings and anti-aircraft positions in the Lindenhafen raid, which also resulted in fires at the airbase. In addition to bombing the Cape Hoskins Field, medium and heavy units of the Allied Air Force destroyed a coastal vessel in a shore-line sweep.

In New Guinea
In New Guinea, medium Allied bombers dropped more than 30 tons of explosives in a low-level raid against the airdrome and installations at Alexishafen, near Madang. Direct hits were scored on supply dumps and anti-aircraft emplacements, and two enemy planes were destroyed on the ground.

"Numerous large fires and explosions were observed throughout the target area," the communiqué said. "There was no interruption."

Meanwhile, Australian jungle fighters pushing toward Madang along the Ramu valley accounted for more than 400 Japs killed in the most recent advance.

"Our ground forces are maintaining pressure on the enemy and inflicting punishment on his forward elements," Gen. MacArthur's headquarters added.

Other medium bombers of MacArthur's command caused explosions and fires at Hansi, Dili and Lautem on Portuguese Timor, and at Langgoer in the Kai group of islands. Long-range fighters bombed and strafed enemy positions at Larat and Adaoet in the Tenimber Islands.

MACK-WHITING NEWS IS ANNOUNCED TODAY

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Betty Mack of Edensburg, by her father, C. V. Mack, East Moody avenue, to Leslie A. Whiting, son of Mrs. Jennie Whiting, also of Edensburg. The news was cleverly told at a party given Friday evening in the home of the bride, when she entertained members of the T. D. J. club at an informal party.

Taking the assemblage by total surprise, they were told of the event by means of novel double heart place favors which read—Betty and Les—June 13, 1942, at the close of the evening, when lunch was served. The ceremony took place at New Cumberland, West Va., with the Rev. A. S. Field, pastor of the Christian church, officiating. They were unattended.

The hours preceding however were spent in playing cards, prizes falling to Mrs. Walter List and Mrs. Anna Mae Silby. In serving a delicious repast, the hostess was aided by Mrs. William Biddle. Appointments were in tune with the occasion, the nuptial motif predominating.

The bride, formerly affiliated with the American Cynamid Co., and the bridegroom, who is employed by the State Highway Department, are residing for the present at the home of his mother on the Edensburg-Pulaski road.

HIGHLAND SOCIETY AT ECKLES RESIDENCE

Members of the Women's Missionary Society of Highland United Presbyterian church held their annual Murdoch-McCrory meeting Friday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. G. Eckles, Moody avenue, with Mrs. J. B. Offutt and Mrs. Carl Paisley as co-hostesses.

Mrs. R. R. McGeorge was the leader and the speaker was Miss McLenahan, dean of Frenchburg Ky., school, who gave an interesting description of work there. Mrs. Elwood Gilbert gave the thank-offering report and announced that Mrs. Emma Dean Anderson, retired missionary from India, will speak at a joint meeting of the various missionary societies of the church to be held in the church November 18. Mrs. Thomas Gilkey, temperance secretary, also gave her report.

OVER 600 SERVED HERE BY CANTEN AT U.S.O.

Red Cross canteen workers continue tirelessly in giving of their time to the preparation and serving of appetizing and nourishing lunches for service men who drop in at the local USO center. From October 9 to 15, the local women served over 600, under the direction of Mrs. Roy A. Long, chairman, and her group.

The Red Cross canteen workers are especially grateful for the home made cakes and cookies donated to the local center by residents of the vicinity. This contribution is an important one, and the continued support of this idea is urged.

Those serving with Mrs. Long included the following: Mrs. D. G. Hildebrand, Mrs. Bert McKibben, Mrs. C. L. Martin, Mrs. Jack Coan, Mrs. Paul Butz, Mrs. Harry McKee, Mrs. Joseph Mrow, Mrs. J. A. Porze, Mrs. M. Davis, Mrs. W. F. McClurg, Mrs. Thornton Allen, Mrs. Albert Jones, Mrs. J. C. Wimer, Mrs. W. B. Kilner and Miss Elsie Calvin.

Not only do the boys get a cordial welcome by hostesses stationed there, they are entertained and served.

C. D. OF A. STUDY CLUB TO RESUME

On Monday evening, October 18 the Catholic Daughters of America will organize the C. D. of A. Study club and resume meetings for the year.

Members will gather at 8:45 o'clock in St. Joseph's lodge rooms after the 8 o'clock novena church services. The study club will study and discuss the book "Faith of Millions".

Miss Clara Duff is in charge of the study club. The announcement was made that this study club is open to anyone interested, whether a C. D. of A. member or not, and also open to non-Catholics.

Rev. Fr. John M. Unger is the spiritual advisor of the study club.

ART CLUB PLANS FOR OPENING LUNCHEON

Art club members meeting planned for Thursday afternoon, October 21, at a downtown tea room, will be double fold in meaning—that of opening their initial fall season with a 1 o'clock luncheon and of observing their 20th anniversary.

After luncheon, the program will be presented, featuring Mrs. James Cole. She will give an informal talk on "Plastics".

READING CIRCLE '91 MEETING ON MONDAY

Members of the Reading Circle '91 will meet in the Y. W. C. A. International Room on Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, for their regular session, with Mrs. J. P. Caldwell, hostess. The usual procedure will be observed, and the planned program will be given.

Silver Needle Club

Mrs. Albert DeBullo of Butz street, received the Silver Needle club in her home, Thursday evening, and sewing was the main pastime.

Mrs. Tony Champ captured the club token. Arrangements were made for two packages to be sent to service men this month—John Gennock, coxswain; and Nick Gennock, coxswain, both of the U. S. Coast Guard, at Curtis Bay, Md.

Guests attending were Josephine Juliano, Merilynne Blank, and Mrs. Mark Villani, of Youngstown, O. The latter has invited the club to her home on Thursday, October 28, for a halloween party.

A luncheon was served by the hostess, assisted by her sister, Josephine Juliano. Mrs. Mike Manto, of Home street, will entertain on November 1.

Twin Sisters Married At Double Wedding Ceremony

Charming simplicity marked the double wedding of the twin daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Norman M. Hunt, R. D. 4, New Castle, Pa., in their home Friday evening, October 15, at 7:45 o'clock. When Miss Eleanor Olive Hunt became the bride of George A. Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Walker, R. D. 1, New Galilee, Pa., and Miss Esther Caroline Hunt became the bride of Chester F. Stewart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart, R. D. 1, Enon Valley, Pa.

Rev. Clyde Roland, pastor of the West Madison Avenue Christian church, New Castle, officiated before a beautiful embankment of palms, ferns and garden flowers. In the presence of 50 relatives and friends, they exchanged vows. The double ring ceremonies were used. The brides wore identical floor-length white satin gowns with sweetheart necklines and shoulder-length veils. They carried arm bouquets of pink roses, tied with pink maline streamers.

Preceding the ceremonies, a program of music was contributed by Mrs. Sara Clark, organist of the West Madison Avenue Christian church. She sang "I Love You Truly" and she played "Leibestraum," "Oh Promise Me" and "At Dawning." To the music of the Bridal Chorus from "Lohengrin," the brides entered the living room with their father, who gave them in marriage.

Buffet refreshments were later served to the guests.

Following a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Walker and Mr. and Mrs. Stewart will be at home to friends, R. D. 1, New Galilee, and R. D. 1, Enon Valley, respectively.

Mrs. Walker and Mrs. Stewart are graduates of Harlansburg High school and attended the New Castle Business college. Mrs. Walker was formerly employed as bookkeeper of the Bruce Electric Supply and Mrs. Stewart was formerly employed in the office of the National Radiator company.

Mr. Walker is a graduate of the Mt. Jackson High school. Mr. Stewart is a graduate of the Enon Valley High school. They are engaged in farming.

FOUR-COUNTY-COUNCIL HONORS MRS. DINSMORE

A reception was held Thursday evening in The Castleton by the Four-County Council of the American Legion Auxiliary, honoring the new County Council president, Mrs. Marvin Dinsmore, New Castle unit.

The occasion was attended by guests from Greenville, Butler, Sharon, Sharpville, Beaver Falls, Rochester, Ellwood City, Farrell and other places numbering upwards of 100. Mrs. Stuart Cope, chairman in charge of arrangements, presided. The pledge to the American flag launched the afternoon, and a verse of the National Anthem was sung in unison.

Following Mrs. Ida M. Suber was introduced as program chairman. She, in turn, presented Mrs. Dinsmore, who gave an inspiring talk. Having recently returned from Harrisburg, Mrs. Dinsmore had last-minute news of the organization's conference held there, pertaining to the American Legion Auxiliary of the Department of Pennsylvania.

She announced that a fund campaign would be under way soon, for the purpose of buying a number of ambulance ambulances for the war.

Mrs. John Gaston, newly elected president of the local auxiliary, presented Mrs. Dinsmore with an arm bouquet in behalf of the membership. The honoree was also given an orchid corsage with the compliments of the American Legion Post.

Testimonial speech was contributed by Mrs. Frank Brewer, western director. Mrs. Sally Homer, past department president, of Greenville, made appropriate remarks, and Mrs. Betty Horner, retiring president of the Four-County Council, of Beaver Falls, also spoke. Mrs. Betty Malcomson, president of the past president's party, of Sharon, brought special greetings. Following Mrs. Ida M. Suber introduced Gold Star Mothers in attendance.

The Coop sisters followed with several vocal and guitar selections. A tasty lunch was served as the concluding feature.

Committees co-operating with Mrs. Cope in making the occasion such a nice success included the following: reception, Mrs. John Gaston, Mrs. Roy Jones and Mrs. James Cooper; decorating, Mrs. Steve McBride, Mrs. Ira Miller, Mrs. William Brooks and Miss Lillian Hartman; reservation, Mrs. Wade Daugherty; program, Mrs. Ida Suber.

B-9 Club Formed
B-9 is the name decided for a social club which met and organized Friday evening at the home of Mrs. H. S. Fowler, Court street. Games were a pastime during the evening.

Later a lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Lois Hanna, a newcomer here from California. Plans were made for another meeting in two weeks at the home of Mrs. Ferd Reiter, East Washington street.

L. A. B. Club To Meet
L. A. B. club will meet Thursday evening with Mrs. Anna McClimans, of the Wright apartments.

G.G.G. Club
Mrs. William Eppley of the Youngstown road, entertained the G.G.G. club members in her home Friday evening. In cards, Mrs. Ed. McKissick and Mrs. Arthur Lundy were prize winners. A special guest was Mrs. Dan Radabaugh.

After partaking of a delicious lunch served by the hostess with Mrs. Nelson dining, plans were made to meet in two weeks. Mrs. William Lowery of 412 Young street, will entertain on this date.

D. G. S. Club Meets
D. G. S. club met at the home of Mrs. Edward Bevan, West Fairmont avenue, Thursday evening, when two tables of cards were in play. Prize winners were Mrs. Edward Bevan, Mrs. Ray Biddle, and Mrs. John Robinson. Later in the evening the hostess served refreshments.

In two weeks the club will meet with Mrs. Lee Whiting, of West Fairmont avenue.

Section A, Y. L. B.
Mrs. J. Bixler of Morton street was hostess to members of Section A of the Y. L. B. class, Third U. P. church, when they quitted all day on Friday, her home.

Business was conducted by Mrs. Milt Book and Mrs. Albert Lutz conducted devotions. At noon a delicious thirteen dinner was served by the committee.

October 21 is the next meeting to quilt with Mrs. J. Bixler.

Fifty-second Anniversary
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Bashline of 229 Northview avenue gave a family dinner at their home on Thursday evening to celebrate their 52nd wedding anniversary.

Out-of-town guests present were Rev. and Mrs. John Ray Loudon and son John, of Akron, O., and Mrs. Ethel Schaub and her father, G. C. Bashline, both of Pittsburgh.

Afterwards, there was a social period and lunch was served by the hostesses, Mrs. Claude Patton and Mrs. Hazel Gallagher.

At the next meeting, on November 10, Mrs. J. O. Eikenberry will be hostess at the home of Mrs. G. S. Bennett, Moody avenue.

The Parent Problem

By Gary C. Myers, Ph. D.

STUDY CLUBS FOR PARENTS

Mother's clubs whose members seriously meet and study together regularly with a view to becoming better parents do more good than they realize. Their purpose always worthy, should be more so during wartime. Unfortunately, some of these clubs, especially the PTA's are tempted to spread out their interests and activities so widely as to neglect their major purpose—improvement of parenthood. The other interests and activities are also, as a rule, very good, especially when related to some war need. But right now, as never before, concerted efforts by parents to understand their children better in a happy family atmosphere to the end that more of our children might be good citizens now in the home and community seems to me to be next to religion, the most useful endeavor of any organization. You see, misdeeds by children in the neighborhood and juvenile delinquency are increasing just now when our country most needs good citizenship.

PTA Organizations

Years before Pearl Harbor the average local PTA throughout the United States had been drifting from the major goal set up by the founders of this organization on a national basis. Nor has there been much emphasis in recent years on parent education and better family life by the leaders of the State and National Congress of Parents and Teachers. This trend unfortunate in peace time is the more so in this time of war. Local leaders of the PTA who sense the need of emphasizing better parenthood might have some good effect through the programs they help set up.

I have found many of the most effective parent study groups scattered here and there throughout the United States known as Mother's Clubs. Many of them are independent of any other organization in the community. An increasing number of them is developing in various local churches of the several faiths. Perhaps the most promising way of promoting better parenthood is coming from this direction. Of special promise are the Couples' Club in numerous churches.

Parent Education

If the church is to do most good and get farthest as an effective organization it will exalt the family and emphasize wise guidance of children at home. Looked at merely from the angle of developing a large active congregation, there is strong argument for emphasis on parent education among church parents. As you see, those parents who learn to guide their children well, win their genuine affection and esteem.

Any group of parents wishing to emphasize better parenthood might find my bulletins announced one at a time, in this column now and then, to be practical text material for their study and discussion.

Solving Parent Problems

Q. What should I do when my nine year old daughter talks back to me?
A. Be too grown-up to talk back to her.

The World and the Mud Puddles

NOT WAR—BUT

There have been some terrible disasters upon the surface of this earth. There have been earthquakes and volcanic eruptions that have destroyed many people and the center of these convulsions of nature seem to have been where the sea was deepest and the mountains adjacent to that sea were the highest.

One of the greatest of these disasters occurred on August 6th, 1883, when the Volcano Krakatoa in the Dutch Indies erupted after two hundred years' quiescence.

To startled sailors on the British ship CHARLES BAL, ten miles at sea, the entire nine-square-mile island appeared to rocket skyward. Straight up in a steady stream spewed huge stones, enveloped in flames and billowing smoke seven miles high. The whole eastern sky vanished behind a backdrop of ebony streaked by lightning flashes.

Moments later came the noise, a deafening and sustained cannonading. Stones the size of a man's head showered the ship, soon a five-foot layer of pumice on the sea impeded navigation.

The bombardment grew steadily fiercer; by five o'clock every aridum in Java and Sumatra was hammered to the bursting point. People in West Australia, seventeen hundred miles distant, were mystified by what seemed to be artillery fire; at Rodriguez Island, nearly three thousand miles away, the police chief reported cannonading; it took the sound four hours to reach there. The detonations ended the following morning with four earth-shaking blasts—the greatest noise ever to break on earth during the recorded time of man.

The effect on sea and atmosphere of the matter vomited in this blast is similarly without parallel. Crashing down from a height of four or five miles, it created a seven-thousand foot tidal wave which took thirty-five thousand lives; was still eighteen inches high when it reached Table Bay, West Africa, fifty-one hundred miles from its origin. The dust cloud, twenty miles into the sky, was blown around the world. Throughout the winter people in all parts of the earth were treated to color displays at sunrise and sunset so fantastic that fire departments in such far-flung spots as New England, London and continental Europe scurried through the streets looking for imaginary conflagrations. Not until the following spring did the heavens regain their normal appearance.

HINTS AND DINTS

Sun sets tonight 6:21. Sun rises tomorrow 7:04.

It looks as if we must all sacrifice until it hurts until the war is over. Many have already been doing that.

Americans are now paying their debts better than ever. They can get the money to do it easier.

Punative pun: These are the times they try men's souls!

AND THAT'S WORSE

Candidate's Wife—"Oh, dear! I'm dreadfully tired."
Candidate—"You ought not to be; you haven't had to make four speeches."
Candidate's Wife—"No; but I've had to listen to them."

Perhaps it is called capital punishment because it is applied only to those who do not have any capital.

The American people think they should get more war news when it is news. They have not been getting it.

It is still a hick town if the neighbors weep when a neighbor is sick, but indulge in loud guffaws when the heart is sick.

"Are you in favor of a tax on bachelors?" bawled a heckler.
"I thought, sir," replied the candidate, "that I had already made it clear that I was not in favor of any tax on raw material!"

No doubt the paroling of crooks will get bump after we hear about the crimes committed by those who get out too soon.

It is not so remarkable, after all, that men lived to such a great age in golden times, when one recalls there were no automobiles in those days and no hit-and-run drivers.

MODIST INDEED

"Just where did the car hit you?" asked the attorney.
"Well," said the injured young woman, "if I had been wearing a license plate it would have been badly damaged."

When you talk you repeat what you already know. When you listen you often learn something.

It looks as if America will have to look over the whole world when the war is over. We are doing a big job already.

Harold—"There's the handkerchief you dropped last night, dear. I sleep with it under my pillow and I've kissed it a thousand times."
Alice—"That isn't my handkerchief, that's little Fifi's sweater."

It is stated that people will be able to get turkeys over the holidays.

You can most always tell in what pocket some people carry their money because they have their hand on it.

A BOY'S ESSAY

The goose is a low, heavy-set bird, composed mostly of meat and feathers. His head sets on one end and he sets on the other end.

He cannot sing much on account of the dampness in the moisture in which he lives. There ain't no between to his toes and he carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep him from sinking. A goose has two legs that are set so far

YEH, SURE!

Well, well! This is a small world, that's right, you said it. Is that so? . . . How long you been working there? . . . Is that right? . . . No, I don't think the OPA will dare ration liquor. . . . Naw, we won't have prohibition in this war. . . . Sure, that's right. Well, like I always sez, you can't legislate people's morals. . . . Ain't we got plenty of BIG national issues without bringing that in? . . . You said it! . . . Sure, it's a good idea. . . . Yeh, I remember in the last war how General Pershing had to preserve the United States troops as an American unit rather than permit them to be merged with any foreign outfits. . . . Your brother was in North Africa?—well good for him! . . . Yeh, Jim's a sergeant now, too. . . . No, I don't think they'd drop the married fathers. . . . Brother, you said a mouthful. . . . Sure, ain't we got 14,000 ships in the Navy? . . . All they got to do is load 'em up and go right over to Japan and blow 'em off the map! . . . Yeh, that's what I keep telling them out at the plant. . . . Naw, I ain't an arm-chair or typewriter strategist. . . . Of course, we don't want to upset our economic status. . . . Yeh, it burns me up too. . . . I sez to him, I sez: Trouble in this country, there are too many guys trying to tell them how to win the war when they don't know what they are talking about. . . . Yeh, the girls've got as much money to spend as us men, only they expect us to treat them all the time. . . . Now, you take the farmers. . . . You said it! . . . One way of doing it would be to cash in your war bonds and buy some more. . . . I think there's a big change sweeping over the country, too. . . . Sure, there's too much paper wasted. . . . Now, if they'd abolish just one item, like time cards. . . . Sure, if a man wants to drink, that's his business and if he don't want to drink, he can find plenty of other ways of spending his money. . . . I'll say it's hypocrisy! . . . Well, that's the way I feel too. . . . Well, so long! Be seen! you, I wonder where I met that guy before?

There are a lot of people who have no respect for age unless it is bottled.

CAROL

'Tis the night before pay-day and all through my jeans I've hunted in vain for the ways and the means. . . . Not a quarter is stirring, not even a jit. . . . The cash is off duty; the greenbacks have quit. . . . Forward turn forward, O Time in thy flight. . . . And make it tomorrow—just for tonight.

Already we are hearing of hunters being wounded. Some hunters should not be allowed to have a gun.

A good way for the police to catch crooks who steal automobiles is to shoot holes in their tires. Some are doing it.

The Value Of Friends

Good friends are as valuable, almost as money in the bank. If they really deserve the name friends, they will see you through any emergency and stand by you through all your difficulties.

People who have a great number of friends are invariably happy and never lonely. For they are kept busy with social invitations. I have always noticed that people who don't make friends readily are lonely and depressed.

Be agreeable at all times. Learn to do a little of everything social—dance, play bridge, gin rummy—everything the others in your set do. I have a widowed friend who says she does "a little of everything" so that she will "get invited."

Above all do your best never to make an enemy. If you meet someone whose temperament and personality are alien to yours, eschew all bitter discussions that might lead to argument. Never take any irrevocable step that might sever a speaking acquaintance. Establish a reputation for tact and tolerance and you will be popular and well liked.

Let it be said of you, as it was of the late Will Rogers: "He never made an enemy." Will, himself put it more strongly. He said that he never met anyone he didn't like.

Question: How should a college professor be introduced? "Mr. 'Professor' or 'Doctor'—if he has a doctor's degree?—W."

Answer: Those having the degree of "doctor" whether it is doctor of music, philosophy, medicine, engineering, dental surgery, etc., are privileged to use their rightful title—Doctor.

Medical doctors and doctors of dental surgery are always addressed as "Doctor" eliminating entirely "Mr." from their names. The others specified are sometimes called "Mr." and sometimes "Doctor" according to their wishes.

We seem to improve everything except people. Where is a group superior to the ancient Greeks?

Why think the Germans nearly licked? They have suffered much less than the Russians—and look at them!

Doolittle Is Sleepless Until Boys Return
Flying General's Wife Does Bit Over Here
Hungry People Of Europe Have Some Pride

By HELEN ESSARY

(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—A story I heard yesterday about Maj. Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, commanding the Northwest African strategic air force, pleases me. The general so deeply feels his responsibility in the safety of his flyers and planes that he never settles in for the night as long as even one of his men is out on a bombing expedition. He has himself called every half hour and demands a full report of the activities of his men. He rejoices in their successes but he grieves, too, for every success means loss of life.

Mrs. Doolittle, who has been traveling around the country lately visiting defense plants and making radio talks, has signed hundreds of autographs, by request, something like this:

"Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, By Mrs. Doolittle."

When Mrs. Doolittle was in California, Max Baer and his bigger brother said they would be his personal bodyguards. About 550 pounds of bodyguard if you added the Baer boys up.

I hear it said that Lord Mountbatten, commander-in-chief of Allied warfare in Southeast Asia, is asking by way of lend-lease for an American entourage composed of: (1) A Grade A Hollywood director—requested by name. (2) One Grade A public relations man—also requested by name. (3) Two plush-lined motor cars—make also specified.

If you don't believe there is a string tied to the rumored promotion of Gen. George Marshall, ask yourself which general ran the American side of the first World War. General Pershing, of course. General Pershing's position, however, was not opposite that of Marshall's rumored new post. Gen. Peyton C. March had that relatively calm and now somewhat forgotten job. It hid him away from opportunity and applause.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. — President Manuel Quezon of the Philippine Commonwealth. "Gen. MacArthur is the one man today who stands like a towering wall between the Japanese and total victory in the southwest Pacific. He has won spectacular victories, one after another with the limited means at his command."

THE PIONEER

This is the lot of the pioneer: He must keep his faith when his fellows sneer.

He must follow his vision, brave of heart.

And go it alone when his friends depart.

There are kinfolks many whom he must shun

Lest they break his will with:

"It can't be done!"

He must deafen his ears and

Blind his eyes

To the few whom his world believes all-wise.

For not often a wise man further looks

Than in the final word in the newest books.

And books are just with what's done concerned.

With seldom a word of what may be learned.

Thus, he who is bound for a better way

Must cope with discouragement, night and day.

And he who would venture for triumphs new

Leads a lonely life and a hard one, too!

Post War Policies

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.

IN THE FRONT of the minds of those who give serious thought to the financial condition in which this nation will find itself after the war there is always one question to vit. Can we swing a national debt of 300 billions of dollars? That is basic.

NO NATION in history has ever had a debt approaching the one we are now carrying. It is even now ten times as large as the debt which we came out of the last war. It is a fabulous and staggering sum, which the human mind can scarcely conceive and the weight of which cannot be accurately estimated. If it can be swung, then our system can be saved. If it cannot be swung, then our whole Federal structure will bog down and we will be afflicted with a period of pretty awful economic chaos.

THE FACT that there is today less public concern about our prospective $300 billion debt than there was before the war over a 40 billion debt does not mean that concern then was not justified nor that there is not now far greater reason for concern. The explanation, of course, is that no one can stop to argue about the size of the debt in the middle of a great war. What ever the cost of winning we have got to pay it. Once victory is ours, the effort to recover sufficient equilibrium to stand the strain can be made. It cannot be made now, and there is no use making the attempt, beyond exerting pressure against needless waste and for economy in non-war governmental activities.

WHAT IS encouraging, however, is that so many of our outstanding industrialists and financial authorities are fully convinced that, if once the war is over, a sound financial policy is adopted by the Government, the dangers inherent in so stupendous a debt burden can be averted and real stability achieved. This, cannot be done, however, it is pointed out, if the course favored by the extreme New Dealers prevails. To them neither the size of the debt nor the amount of taxes is of primary importance. They operate on the comforting theory which you take from one individual and pay to another: the debt is nothing to worry about because "we owe it to ourselves."

IF ANY such absurd ideas are to prevail in the post-war period, then we will be in for a very terrible time indeed. On the contrary, it is held that the way the tax problem is handled will determine (Continued On Page Seven)

Looking At Life

By ERICH BRANDEIS

I just got through reading my paper.

I wonder whether you realize what a gigantic service your newspaper really renders to you.

Please don't consider this an advertising plug. It is just that we take every day things too much for granted, like our wives, our homes, our food.

Yet what would we be without them? And what would you be without your newspaper?

Here, for a few cents a day you become a citizen of the world.

Great statesmen, generals, scientists, and business leaders talk to you and keep you informed.

You go into the homes of the rich and of the poor and see their troubles and their joys.

You visit night clubs in New York, football games in San Francisco, art galleries in far-away Melbourne.

You are taken into the Senate chamber and into the President's private office.

Brilliant writers and artists give you of their wisdom and furnish you with care.

Do you realize what is behind all this?

The thousands of miles of cables and telephone wires. The men and women by the hundred who risk their lives so that you may know what is going on?

I hear so often, "Oh, that's just newspaper talk."

Supposing there were no newspaper talk? Where would you be?

What kind of a life would you live? Supposing there were no light?

Supposing there were no food? Supposing there were no clothes?

All these commodities these days, yet as necessary as the very air you breathe.

I have been a newspaperman these many years, and I still have the most profound respect for newspapers and their makers and their workers.

We strive for truth. We search for good, which we achieve by exposing evil.

You may believe me when I tell you that almost every newspaperman I know is an idealist. With all the evil things he sees he still believes in mankind.

When you discard your paper to-night look at it as something more than just a heap of waste.

Remember the very lives of a thousand earnest people have gone into these pages so that you may be free another day.

LITTLE NEWS ON INSIDE EUROPE

IT IS REGRETTABLE that the factor which could bring the European war to an end most quickly—the opposition to Hitler within his fortress—is the one about which the public receives the least dependable news. News that trickles through is from underground sources and unofficial.

Marshal Badoglio made a declaration which is as interesting as any uttered bearing on this situation. He said that when the Fascists blew up in Italy, a rumor spread through German ranks that Hitler had been assassinated. German troops gave way to wild enthusiasm, tearing der Fuehrer's pictures from their barracks and shouting that the war would soon end. If that is the sentiment that prevails in a part of the army, it may be more widespread at home.

Certainly the Allies are getting valuable assistance from people in Hitler's domain or once under his control. Italians, who at least did not resist the French in Corsica, are reported to be helping the Yugoslav guerillas along the Dalmatian coast and the British in the Dodecanese Islands. The war in Yugoslavia is indeed well organized and probably supplied to some extent by the Allies from the air.

The important fact is that scattered forces of resistance are assembling, especially in the Balkans. There is a spontaneity about this which has great explosive potentialities. Not only Serb patriots but Austrians, German deserters, Italians and escaped British prisoners of war have joined forces. Here is an army not awaiting invasion but reducing Hitler's power to resist invasion.

There are no doubt other forces in other regions of Europe prepared to make a similar showing when the time is ripe. How great will be their contribution? It is impossible for observers on the outside to make a guess. But it could be the weapon to bring the war to a speedy end.

IN A HURRY

When Americans start to do a thing, they are invariably in a hurry. This is noticeable in the haste to learn more Americans foreign languages to equip them for broader international relations after the war.

A million or more service men are taking quick courses in various tongues so they will be equipped to converse with natives in foreign lands to which they may be sent. Schools, too, are falling in line.

Prof. Mario A. Pei, head of Columbia university's language department, advocates intensive but brief courses in several languages to replace the present system of studying one tongue over a period of years.

Professor Pei says that a study of several tongues with emphasis upon acquiring conversational skill, not grammar, would dissipate the average American's apathy toward the study of languages. "Too much time is wasted in our high schools and colleges on picaresque terms and grammatical points," he asserts.

Professor Pei holds that longer language studies should be maintained for students desiring to specialize in a selected subject. He is confident that the average student could acquire a practical knowledge of several tongues in less than a year.

AIR-POWER AGAIN PAYS OFF

Again the daring and skillful use of air-power in the Southwest Pacific has paid huge dividends. The stunning blow dealt the Japanese at Rabaul ranks with those given the enemy in the battle of the Bismarck Sea and in the massacre of aircraft at Wewak.

In each of these exploits, the element of surprise was combined with a concentration of available planes that provided air mastery at the appointed time, with devastating results. General MacArthur and the commander of his air arm, Lieutenant General Kenney, continue to give the world striking demonstrations of what massed air power can accomplish.

The score at Rabaul is impressive: 177 enemy aircraft destroyed or severely damaged, 123 ships sunk or damaged, including three destroyers, and harbor and defense installations wiped out. Now that our bombers can have fighter escort over the base, fruit of our advance in New Guinea and the Solomons, we may expect more of the same treatment to be poured on.

Rabaul has been the immediate top goal in the campaign in the Southwest. With its fall we shall command an island area that will outflank the Marshalls and the Gilberts and open a direct path to Truk. MacArthur and his men are wasting no time gaining that goal.

MAP MAKERS

Yugoslavia and Greece disclose what the attitude of conquered European countries will be toward their enemies when the day of liberation comes. Their demands upon the violators of their peace will not be small. This is particularly evident as to rearrangement of territory.

The Yugoslav government will demand the Istrian Peninsula jutting into the Adriatic from the northeastern tip of Italy, together with the port of Fiume and some islands in the northern Adriatic. It will also demand a strip of territory around Trieste which Austria ceded to Italy after World War I. Yugoslavia intends to repossess the port of Zara, on the Adriatic coast, and some islands which Italy annexed in 1920.

Greece is demanding all of the territory it held before the outbreak of the war and all of the Aegean Islands taken from Greece by Italy in 1920 and having predominant Greek populations. Greece will demand a part of Albania which is contents is necessary to its safety, and also a part of Bulgaria for the same reason. Greece will grant Britain all the air and naval bases London deems necessary.

In view of the Greco-Yugoslavia demands, it is clear that America, Britain and Russia will sit in on a tremendous volume of territorial rectification requests relative to Germany. France will want Alsace and Lorraine back. Poland and Czechoslovakia will have many territorial suggestions for the weakening of Germany's power of aggression.

The umpires of liberated Europe will become map makers on a larger scale than those at Versailles twenty-five years ago.

Both Germans and Japs have been warned their atrocities are drawing compound interest. And pay day is coming.

If Hitler is still drawing on his intuition, it will tell him that Russian rivers and marshes become hard-surfaced roadways in winter.

May Foreshadow New O.P.A. Policy

Informed Sources Point Out Change in Price Policy Is Indicated

By PHILLIPS J. PECK
(N. Y. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Informed sources foresaw today the inception of a new O.P.A. price policy which may result in widespread violations of President Roosevelt's "hold-the-line" order on the cost of living.

First sign of the new policy was indicated in an increase in the ceiling prices on boys' bib overalls to obtain production of 10,000,000 pairs of the garments and relieve a serious shortage.

Some O.P.A. officials and civilian supply experts have long advocated boosting the prices of cheaper merchandise to encourage manufacturers to return to the production of so-called low-end goods. The trend recently has been toward the output of higher-profit lines.

Advocates of such a course admit that it would mean higher costs for low-income families who purchase low-end goods. They argue, however, that such families now are unable to buy a $1.98 dress, for example, and have to purchase a higher priced article.

Another argument advanced in support of the new policy is that it may result in a decline in the production of high-profit items and thereby bring about a reduction in the over-all cost of living for all consumers.

Indications are that the new policy will be instituted widely if it received administration approval. Economic Stabilization Director Fred M. Vinson, charged with the responsibility of "holding the line", is expected to rule on the policy within the next few weeks.

Predict Repeal Of Act Excluding Chinese From U. S.

Believe Move Is Vital One In Battle Against Japan
At Present

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—House majority leaders predicted an overwhelming victory today on repeal of the Chinese exclusion law as a vital war move in the battle against Japan.

Despite determined opposition from a small but militant Republican minority, Rep. Ramspeck (D-Ga., House majority whip, looked for a one-sided vote in favor of granting citizenship to 105 Chinese every year.

Rep. Bennett (R) Mich., one of four immigration committee members who voted against reporting the administration bill, said he would offer an amendment on the floor striking out both the quota and citizenship provisions. The bill comes to a vote next Wednesday.

Should his amendment carry, the legislation would continue to bar the door to Chinese hoping to enter this country but would kill the law which makes Chinese the only racial group excluded "by name."

"The administration is for the bill," said Bennett. "If the administration wasn't behind the measure, putting on the pressure, it wouldn't have a chance."

"A number of the members I have talked to feel we should repeal the Chinese exclusion law and stop. I don't think we should tamper during the war with a law that has been in effect for 60 years, but consider it as a postwar problem with other immigration matters."

ARGENTINA MAY BREAK WITH AXIS

By KINGSBURY SMITH
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—Hope was growing in official Washington circles today that Argentina may soon break diplomatic relations with the Axis powers.

This hope was strengthened by the swift developments which occurred in Argentina following President Roosevelt's stinging rebuke of that country's military government for suspending publication of Jewish newspapers there.

Quick withdrawal of the anti-Semitic measure and the appointment of more liberal, pro-American elements to the Argentine cabinet were seen as promising signs.

Argentina is the only Latin American republic which was failed to break diplomatic relations with the Axis.

Latest diplomatic advice indicates that President Pedro Ramirez personally is disposed to break with the Axis, but was fearful of the group of reactionary, anti-American army and air force officers which had dominated the government.

THE GREAT GAME OF POLITICS

how much production and how much employment there will be. With intelligent direction of these things, the system of free enterprise can be preserved unimpaired and a prosperity greater than ever experienced will follow.

NO ONE expects ever to see taxes again as low as they were fifteen years ago, but a tax reduction following the war seems essential to those who feel that our system cannot be saved by New Deal deficit spending, but must depend in peace, as it has in war, upon the vigor and strength of American industry. Except from the professional spenders, there will hardly be any dispute about that. Nor will many contend that industry can be strong after the war unless there is a free flow of capital into production. Under present tax schedules this would be impossible. Capital simply would not be available under those schedules and it does not take much of an expert to know it.

A TAX REDUCTION after the war, it is argued, will be forced by public demand. The idea is that it will not come as soon as the fighting stops, but it will come within a reasonably short period. And, if a general governmental policy calculated to release industry from its handicaps is adopted, there should be no difficulty about the debt. If, it is predicted by some, we follow a prudent policy, there is no reason we should not be able to start paying off the debt a year or so after the war. One authority estimates that our annual national income after peace comes will be in excess of $150,000,000,000 and even with a considerable tax reduction, the Treasury could collect more than enough to meet all reasonable expenditures.

ONLY, it is contended, if the Government insists upon pouring money down every rat hole it can find, here and abroad, will it be able to keep the budget from being balanced. What this all amounts to is that if, for the years following the war, we can be assured of a sound and sensible administration, the financial integrity of the nation can be preserved and the perils of repudiation and inflation be completely eliminated. And if we do not get that kind of administration they will not be—which makes this 1944 election very important to all of us.

TENT HALL

MISSIONARY MEETING

The King's Daughters of Mahoning held their regular monthly meeting Thursday at the home of Mrs. Clyde Moore.

Sewing for the Red Cross occupied the morning hours.

The ladies brought their sandwiches and a dessert and coffee were served by the hostess at noon.

In the afternoon the program was led by Mrs. Earl Cover, assisted by Mrs. Roy McBride. The speakers were Mrs. George Allen and Mrs. Larmer Carlisle. Mrs. Elmer Baird explained the thank offering, as she is the secretary.

She also announced the annual thank offering service for Sunday evening, Nov. 7, which is to be a joint service of the three societies.

MISS PHILLIS HONORED

Miss Ruth Baird was hostess to the members of the Jolly Eight club and their mothers Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Louise Phillis, whose marriage to John Anderson of New Bedford, will take place Monday evening at her home.

The girls organized their club in their senior year at Union high and Miss Phillis is the first to be married.

Entertainment and a social time were had, after which Miss Phillis was presented a number of lovely gifts.

A dainty buffet lunch was served by the hostess.

TENT HALL NOTES

Mrs. F. A. Montgomery received word from her niece, Mrs. Glenn DeVassie, of Hubbard, that she is visiting her husband in Williamsburg, Va. where he is stationed.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Baird attended Oak Grove church, Sunday and were dinner guests of her sister and family, Mrs. Elmer Armstrong, at Princeton.

Mrs. Earl Service of Andover, O., is spending several days with her friend, Mrs. Clyde Moore.

Mrs. Linda Carlisle has returned home from New Bedford, after a week's visit with Mrs. Hazel Carlisle.

Mrs. Elmer Baird, Mrs. Roy McBride, Mrs. Fred Montgomery and Mrs. Harry Kretzer are those from here attending the Bible study class being taught by Dr. Orr of New Bedford in the Hopewell Presbyterian church on Thursday evening of each week.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Campbell and daughters were Sunday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ruffing in Youngstown.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Shehy have received word that their son, Pvt. Jack Shehy has arrived safely in England.

Mrs. Francis Kuhn is employed at the Strouss-Hirschberg's Co., in New Castle.

Miss Anna Mae Munn spent the week-end in Pittsburgh with her uncle, George Munn, and other relatives.

There will not be any services at Mahoning Sunday, as the pastor, Rev. Shephard, is on his vacation.

The Harbor Garden club was entertained Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Linton.

Junior Alley, who is employed at the pottery in New Castle, visited his folks, Mr. and Mrs. J. Alley the first of the week.

Hints On Etiquette

Impatience and temper shown when you have to wait for an elevator or other service in store, restaurant or other place of business, marks you in these times not only as bad mannered, but as unpatriotic.

Saying "Merry Christmas" 'Round the World

Four hundred and fifty Christmas boxes . . . each a message of good cheer and fellowship . . . are on their way. They were prepared by the men and women of Johnson Bronze for former employees. One hundred and fourteen are for overseas . . . nine for the feminine branches . . . the balance for our men now stationed in this country.

Overseas addresses tell little . . . rarely indicate the final destination of the gift. Yet we know from hundreds of letters received during the past year that our boxes will go to every theater of war. To Dutch Harbor and Amchitka . . . to Guadalcanal and Sidney . . . to England and Ireland . . . to North Africa and Sicily.

Packing and shipping these gift packages makes one realize how truly world-wide is this conflict . . . how far from home some of our boys will be on December 25th. Likewise it reminds us of the tough fight that lies ahead . . . of the work and sacrifices still necessary before complete victory is ours.

With each package goes a solemn promise of every worker at Johnson Bronze. Realizing that we, on the production front, owe everything to those on the fighting front we will keep on our jobs persistently, day in and day out, until the last gun has been fired and peace returns to the world.

South Americans also live in the Americas.

We don't exactly want to be known as United States-ers, do we? Or must we say each time we refer to our noble-spirited selves, "Citizens of the United States?"

This brings me to my point. It is reported that certain forward thinking citizens of the United States when turned loose on tidying up the post-war world, mean to straighten the Leaning Tower of Pisa. This worries me. I like my Towers of Pisa to keep on leaning. I mean to be a tourist in the post-war world and scout around for some culture, just as we used to do of yore.

I am beginning to believe that one of the great needs of this country—don't be shocked—is a new name. No longer can we say "America" and expect the rest of the world to think only of the United States.

Nor can we continue to be the only "Americans." Canadians, Mexicans, Icelanders and a billion or so

I am afraid some citizens of the United States are bent on being too officious in the post-war world. There is a serious point to be considered there.

Undoubtedly, troubled Allied countries are reasonably grateful to the United States for the aid being given, "but," say some foreigners when you question them closely, "please do not let your countrymen plan to make all the world live the American way in your post-war world. You can't impose your kind of thought and living on everybody, you know. No matter how good your intentions."

There's also a hitch in our feeding the hungry plan, at least from the point of view of the foreigner. "You must remember that even hungry people have pride," I was told by an Asiatic. "Nations like people do not enjoy being poor relations. When you help the oppressed, try not to be magnificent about it. Don't scatter your food before us as if you were scattering feed before chickens and expect us to peck in the manner you think best."

Tells How Allies Won First Round Of Volturno Battle

By RICHARD TREASKIS
(I. N. S. Staff Correspondent)
AN OBSERVATION POST OVERLOOKING THE VOLTURNO FRONT, Oct. 13—(Delayed)—It is 11:15 a. m. It's a bright windy morning, and from this bare ridge looking down on the Volturno one can see visual evidence that the Allies have won the first round of the battle of the Volturno.

At least in this sector, where in the hours of darkness this morning American troops waded across the winding width of the river, there are many signs that the battle is going our way.

On a conical hill, just beyond the river, one can make out the tiny shapes of American helmets and uniforms amongst the shrub bushes. This hill is the first objective of one of our battalions and it was taken on time—despite heavy German machine gun fire. No enemy fire is falling on this hill now, not even artillery fire.

More important as an indication of our success is the sight of the Ford in the river just below. There a group of five men are wading out into the stream, crossing it, and they are not being molested. Meanwhile, our batteries banged incessantly behind us and the shells came in steady streams, singing like angels overhead.

A Jerry shell came so rarely that it seemed almost a stray. And still occasionally the burp of an enemy machine gun to the right far on the plain could be heard.

As we reached the little village beyond the hill in front of us, the artillery behind us speeded up and we saw the black and white puffs spotting the ground all around an isolated white farm house. Two German tanks were hidden there and our people were going after them with artillery—and bazookas. Meanwhile, a small kite-like observation plane winged slowly overhead, fanning back and forth over the house and the tanks, giving directions to the batteries behind them. Not a hostile shot was fired at the plane.

CONTRACT LET FOR POST OFFICE STEPS

Postmaster William R. Hanna stated today that the contract for repairing the steps inside the Washington street entrance to the Post Office has been let, and it is expected that work will get under way on this project within a short time now.

The steps have been in bad condition all summer, several sections having broken out of them. The material was not of heavy enough construction to stand up under the beat of many feet going up and down them. The steps on the Jefferson side of the building had to be repaired several years ago.

Nurses Aides To Visit Hospital

Groups Will Tour Station Hospital At Camp Reynolds Sunday Afternoon

Nurses aides of the New Castle Hospital and Jameson Memorial hospital will visit the Station hospital at Camp Reynolds, Transfer, Pa., Sunday afternoon.

The groups are to meet at the Red Cross Cafeteria house, promptly at 12:45 o'clock, from where the girls will depart. A large group is expected, and the tour promises to be an interesting one for the nurses aides, and the Red Cross nurses aides committee, who will attend.

More Shipbuilders Join In Walkout

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Additional workers on the day shift today joined 2,000 employees at the Cramp Shipbuilding Corporation in Philadelphia in a 24-hour-old unauthorized work-stoppage.

Company officials said numerous men reported to their jobs today as usual, but a number of others turned back at the gates and returned to their homes.

The walkout started yesterday when 2,000 employees failed to return to their jobs after lunch, despite an assertion by Herbert Moyer, secretary of Local 42, Industrial Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers, CIO, that union agents had urged them to stay on the job.

"The men went out yesterday because of the rain," William Schaffer, local president declared, "and no doubt many will leave their jobs for the same reason today."

Farewell Given Thomas Edmunds

Members of the American Legion said goodbye to Thomas C. Edmunds Friday night when a smoker was held in his honor in the Legion Home on North Jefferson street.

Mr. Edmunds leaves Monday for service with the Navy.

A short program of speaking was enjoyed with the following men making brief addresses: Norman P. Nelson, Assemblyman James C. Brice, Leon Drumm, Russell Mullin, Chester C. Sweeney, Fred Duff, Jack Gerson, Guy J. Wadlinger presented Mr. Edmunds with a purse, upon behalf of the men present. Ivor V. Davis was the general chairman of the evening.

PROBE DEATH OF 15-YEAR-OLD GIRL

TARENTUM, Pa., Oct. 16.—(INS)—A four-way probe was underway today into the death of 15-year-old Dorothy Baker after taking, police said, an overdose of sleeping tablets obtained from a Chicago "mail order physician."

The district attorney's office and the coroner joined in asking a check of the shipment by postal authorities. They also contacted the district attorney's office in Cook county, Illinois, to investigate the doctor and to find out if there were other shipments made into the Western Pennsylvania area.

The girl, who had been ill, left a note expressing her sorrow for her act. Agents of the U. S. Food and Drug Administration were also reported checking the sale of the sleeping tablets.

SEARCH FOR BOY PROVES FUTILE

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 16.—(INS)—Eight-year-old John Coover was still missing today despite intensive searches by state police, civilian defense workers and soldiers from the Carlisle barracks, who combed the South mountains near Hockersville for two days and nights.

The boy was barefooted and lightly clad when he wandered away from this mountainside home Thursday afternoon in search of firewood.

The futile search led state police to believe that the boy was not on the mountain, but they could not offer any other clues as to his whereabouts.

BESSEMER

Members of the Nelson family gathered in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Nelson of Bessemer, on Saturday evening to celebrate the 82nd birthday anniversary of Mrs. J. A. Nelson. At 7:30 a thirteen dinner was served. The remainder of the evening was spent socially.

The honor guest received many nice remembrances of the day. Those present were Arthur Nelson, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Nelson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Nelson and son, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams, Paul Nelson of Youngstown, and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Nelson of Struthers, and Hilda McKee of Bessemer.

Tony Huline of Bessemer, has received word that one son is in England and one in India.

Mrs. Wilda Heard was a caller in New Castle, Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Thayer Martin were callers in New Castle, Wednesday evening.

THE MAN BEHIND THE WHEEL IS AN IMPORTANT CITIZEN

There was a time when "truck driver" used to describe a lad whose development was more muscular than mental. Those were the days when the industry was in its swaddling clothes, when motor transportation was not the established institution it is now.

Today the truck driver, the "Man Behind the Wheel," is an important citizen. Without him you wouldn't have morning milk, your newspaper, your coal bin filled, you wouldn't get from place to place with the ease and comfort you do.

Motor truck cargoes are moved quickly and safely because of the kind of men who move the trucks. Today the term "truck driver" implies efficiency, safety, dependability. The industry is proud of the "man behind the wheel."

Bridenbaughmen Flash Impressive Ground Attack As They Roll Up Second Class AA WPIAL Conquest; McKee Paces Onslaught With Pair Of Scores; Lewis And Benigas Cross Goal Line Once Apiece; Roussos Establishes Record By Booting Extra Point From Near 30-Yard Mark; Visitors Never Threaten; 'Cane Line Adamant.

Displaying no concern whatsoever for an obstinate downpour that transformed Taggart stadium's gridiron into a 100-yard mud pie last night, New Castle high's undefeated eleven splashed and slid over the goal line four times to turn back a willing Washington (Pa.) high aggregation, 27-0.

Despite the water "blitz," 3,570 cash customers sat under a mushroom of umbrellas, newspapers and coats to watch the 1942 Class AA WPIAL kingpins capture their second league victory and fifth success of the season.

Halfback Dick McKee paced the scoring division, fattening his stock with two touchdowns. Lewis and Benigas each recorded one visit into pay off terrain and Mike Roussos, with Billy Andrews laying down the piskin, booted three extras, one from close to the 30-yard stripe.

Drive 61 Yards
Stymied throughout the first quarter, the locals finally got the feel of things in the second and punched across a score in 13 plays. A 61-yard ground rally started with McKee taking Thomas' punt but slipping on the NC 39.

Lewis and McKee each took a stab at the Washington line and inched to the visiting 48. Williams skirted left end to the 40 and Lewis batted center for three. McKee, showing rare speed, carted around his right flank to the 29 and Lewis kept up the march with six more through center.

Williams chopped off four more on an end junket to the 19. An off-side penalty against the invaders moved 3-yards closer. McKee then slid through to the 10. Lewis tried the same thing and reached the four. After Williams cut between left tackle and guard to the 1, Lewis is hauled over. Andrews came in to hold and Roussos converted for a 7-0 lead.

NC took the field at the start of the third quarter in neat red togery. Preston recovered the kickoff on the Presidents' 25 but the locals were unable to count any yardage and McKee lifted over the goal line. Smith was spiked twice on pair of fake reverses through the center and on third down stepped back to kick.

McKee Dashes Over
The 'Canes ends were on top of him. He hurried the toe work and booted poorly to his 21. On the prettiest play of the night, Williams handed the hockide to McKee. The blond halfback, aided by perfect blocking, spun around right end and was trapped on the 10. He spun around and wiggled loose from seven players and went over standing. Roussos' kick was wide to the left.

Washington found the local line as tough to enter as a bank after closing hours and consequently was forced to boot in an effort to hold down the count. Thomas, three plays before the end of the third, kicked out of the bounds on the NC 21.

Lewis slashed off tackle on his weak side to the 33 and McKee spun around to the 37. With nothing but sheer power, Lewis hit a wide gap at center and tore loose. Roussos overtook the fullback on the Washington 25 as the canto ended.

McKee Over Again
Williams was tossed for an eight yard loss on the opening play of the finale but McKee got back four through center. Lewis pushed down at right tackle and guard crawled in and dashed over standing. Roussos added the 20th marker via placement, Andrews holding again.

McKee put the invaders in a hole a few minutes later by kicking out of bounds on the 5. Johns fumbled twice but recovered, the last time on the 3. From behind the "g. l." he kicked to Benigas, who was nailed on the 21. On a reverse McKee handed the ball to Substitute Benigas, who sauntered around left to the 7. He seemingly was stopped but extricated himself beautifully and scored.

Roussos Sets Record
With Andrews on the holding end, Roussos' conversion was O. K. but N. C. was penalized 15 yards for holding. From approximately the 30 Roussos left-footed one high and far between the uprights for the longest extra point conversion in

Trautman Says AA 1944 Season Will Be Played

Disagrees With Bucky Harris; Association Heads Asserts Public Wants Baseball

By GIL KARP
International News Service Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 16.—You can take the word of President George "Red" Trautman that the American Association will be playing baseball in 1944, and so will the other minor league teams that got through the 1943 season.

Trautman, interviewed at A. A. headquarters today, took sharp issue with Bucky Harris, the former Washington Senators pilot, who told I. N. S. he doubted that any of the minors would resume play next spring if the war still is on.

While conceding that Bucky might have some inside information, the Association president recalled that "we had men in baseball last year who were confident that minor league baseball would not start in 1943, and when we did start, they said we wouldn't finish."

"I know of no minor league that played ball in 1943 which does not expect to operate in 1944," said Trautman.

Public Wants Baseball
He feels there is no doubt that the public wants baseball to continue, despite the war. In support of this belief, he cited the attendance at Association games in the season just closed which equalled that of 1942.

"Many so-called authorities are saying that baseball has been definitely affected by the drafting of many of the young players," he said. "This is not true. Baseball is a competitive sport and as long as the play is close enough and fast, the fan sees a good ball game."

UEF Cage Squad Practices Monday

United Engineering and Foundry company will be represented in the City Basketball league, it was announced today.

The UEF quints stages its initial drill on Monday night at 8:30 o'clock on St. Mary's floor. Some of the star flippers on the squad include:

"Kaiser" Toscano, Sam Bullano, Joe Augustyn, Willie Paul, Bill Russo, "Gaby" DeCaprio, Francis Liposky, Dudy Perrett, Don Edgar, Norm Pascarella, Eddie Ostrosky, Ernie Alfredo, and Jimmy Pagley.

It was also announced that a company league will be formed with six or eight teams competing. Morgans, Edgars, Lehmanns, Gallaghers and Arblasters will be among the clubs entered. "Gaby" DeCaprio and Tony Pegnato will handle the organizing end of the circuit.

Plans are underway to organize a girls' team, too.

McGrew, Dodger Scout, Joins Phils

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Ted McGrew, chief of the Brooklyn Dodgers' scouts, today was the newest member of the Phillies' scouting staff.

McGrew's contract with Brooklyn expired when the season closed, and it is understood he notified Branch Rickey that he did not wish to renew it.

The ex-Dodger joins a corps of scouts which includes Jocko Collins, Bill Killefer and Cy Morgan.

Neighboring Eleven Packs Too Much Experience For Locals In Contest Friday

Power-laden Zelenople high boasting of too many advantages principally experience, handed Union Township high a 49-0 defeat Friday afternoon on Union field. The visitors pushed across their first two touchdowns on steady ground-gaining maneuvers, leading by a 7-0 edge in the first. By half-time Zelenople added another seven points.

Score Seven Times
Young's aerial to Burkett, in the third, covered 70 yards from the point where the ball was tossed, and resulted in another score. Kustigic's 44-yard dash set up another touchdown. Young's pass to Sweeney, following a Union fumble recovery, netted a "touch." Kustigic heaved to R. Weigel into paydirt and Altemus registered the seventh six-pointer.

Goehring showed no regard whatsoever for the slippery condition of the turf, slipping over for six extra points.

Shenango Next foe
Next Friday afternoon, Union battles Shenango Township high on Union field in a county class B contest.

Ursinus Upsets Temple U., 10-6

Victory Fitting Farewell To Army-Bound Coach Pete Stevens

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Ursinus held its first victory of the 1943 football campaign today—a 10-6 upset verdict over a favored Temple team before 2,000 rain-soaked fans at Temple stadium.

The Bears scored as the first quarter ended and went on to hold the Templars on even terms for the remainder of the game. In the third period Temple drove 70 yards to score, and Bob Hubbs flipped an aerial to Clarence Perkins.

The conversion skidded across the goal line, low and outside. Ursinus opened the final quarter by rallying with a 25-yard field goal after recovering on Temple's 34, yard stripe.

In winning, Ursinus presented Coach Pete Stevens with a fitting farewell. He is due to be inducted into the armed forces today.

Steagles-Bears Feature Contest In Pro League

Phil Pitts Rated Fair Chance Of Winning; Redskins To Face Packers

By JERRY HEALEY
(International News Service Sports Writer)

CHICAGO, Oct. 16.—The best in the West against the best in the East. That was the professional football lineup for tomorrow in the National Football league.

Representing the tops in the West, the Chicago Bears, their ground attack stymied but their passing offensive on the upswing, engage the Phil-Pitts, who boast one of the fleetest backfields in the circuit and a massive, smart line.

The Eagles are off to a flying start in the Eastern division. They took advantage of a late start by the Washington Redskins to cop a couple of games while losing none. The early figuring gives the Eagles a good chance to represent the East in the year-end playoff.

Redskins Vs. Packers
The champion Redskins, easy 27 to 0 winners last Sunday over the Brooklyn Dodgers, barge into Green Bay for a joust with the Packers and the Don Hutson brigade stands a good chance of whipping the Capital eleven, the Packers whipped Detroit last Sunday, 35 to 14.

The sensational halfback of last year's Tennessee eleven, Johnny Butler, adorns the backfield of the Phil-Pitts. He is afforded able assistance by Ernie Steele, Jack Hinkle and Ben Kish. The Eagles have gained 42 yards per rush in their two league games behind their good line.

Bear fans were apprehensive of their showing in the first half against the Chicago Cardinals, although they recovered in the second half and won 20 to 0.

The Lions of Detroit, expect to snap back against the Cardinals in a scheduled game at Buffalo, N. Y., and the weak Brooklyn tackle the New York Giants in Buntown.

UEF GALS PLAY AGAIN MONDAY

United Engineering Office and Shop girls will play their championship softball game on Monday night at 5:45 o'clock at Gaston Park. It was announced today.

The rivals recently battled to a 21-21 tie. Verna Coach slashed three homers.

Rain of yesterday and last night assuredly was a gift. It not only wet down the woods and fields but also will go far toward replenishing the waters in farmers' wells and springs. Reports from hunting regions during the past week caused a fear that there had been no heavy downpour forest fires would sweep some of them and cause destruction of game, as occurred near Brockway. Streams were heightened and the downfall will also help bass and "muskie" fishing.

Today will see the opening of the six-day War Fund meeting at Church Hill Downs. 800 horses having been centered there. Following this meeting the 13-day Downs' fall program will begin.

Bucky Harris will manage the Buffalo Bisons next season.

Ranger Hockeyists Inaugurate Drills

WINNIPEG, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Four veteran players and 30 newcomers were on the roster today as the New York Rangers of the National Hockey League prepared for the coming season.

Taking part in initial scrimmages under the direction of Coach Frank Boucher were Ott Heller, the team's defenseman for 13 years; Grant Warwick, winner of the Calder trophy as the league's outstanding rookie in 1942, and Bill Goodwin, who came to the Rangers from Niagara Falls near the close of last season.

Villanova Battles Bucknell Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Navy V-12 trainees will predominate tonight at Shibe Park as Villanova's Wildcats clash with the Bisons of Bucknell in the renewal of an old football rivalry.

Coach Jordan Oliver's crew will seek to repeat its 1937 victory over Bucknell and return to winning ways after losing this year to Army and Sampson Naval Training Station.

Co-captains for Villanova will be Bob Nealon and Alfonso Kasulin, both marine transfers from Miami university. Nealon has handled all of the center duties for the Wildcats and Kasulin is a hard-running fullback and excellent punter.

Four ex-Manhattan stars and a pair of ex-Temple men are included.

Jose Basora Upset Winner Over Zivic In 10-Round Mix

DETROIT, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Jose Basora, Puerto Rican middleweight, today held a convincing 10-round upset victory over Fritzie Zivic in a battle that turned the tables on the dopesters.

Fritzie complained "it was one of my bad nights," but Basora's jolting lefts and wicked uppercuts left no doubt in the minds of 6,000 Detroit fight fans that he had Zivic's number.

It was a lopsided triumph for the Puerto Rican who belted the Pittsburgh veteran in every round save the first. There were no knockdowns.

In the semi-windup, Pittsburgh's Bill Miller smashed Bobby McIntyre of Detroit to defeat with a technical knockout in the third.

Willow Grove Grid Team Transferred

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Oct. 16.—(INS)—Willow Grove Naval Training Station's football squad had been transferred to Atlantic City today and will be known in the future as the Naval Air Station "Hellcats."

Lt. Elverson, former Swarthmore coach, will be in charge of the team as Lt. Raymond "Ducky" Pond, coach at Willow Grove, was not included in the transfer.

The "Hellcats" are facing Lafayette at Easton, Pa., today.

Jacobs Will Promote In St. Nicholas Arena

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—(INS)—With Madison Square Garden booked solid, due chiefly to the rodeo and ice shows, Mike Jacobs planned today to promote 16 Monday night bouts at the St. Nicholas Arena, a few blocks uptown.

An eight-round return middleweight bout between Pvt. Martin Bryant of Mitchell Field and Vinnie Vines will initiate the series October 26 under the banner of the 20th Century Sporting Club with Jacobs as promoter and Nat Rogers as matchmaker.

Other Possibilities
There was the possibility (a) that he was lining himself up for a later Detroit connection in case Steve O'Neill happens to step on his managerial necktie, as had been covered, suggested by stories out of Detroit (Buffalo being a Detroit proving ground).

There was the likelihood (b) that he might be taking this means of getting as far away as possible from Bill Cox of the Phillies. And there existed the more than remote chance (c) that he might again be crossing Branch Rickey, of the Brooklyn club, with whom he conferred at length last winter before deciding on Philadelphia, without waiting for Bro. Rickey to make up his devious mind.

Up from Buffalo then, back to Buffalo now. And he's come a long way in the meantime.

Yes, a long way . . . in a circle.

Segura-Talbert Battle Sunday

MEXICO CITY, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Francisco Segura and William Talbert today were slated to meet Sunday in the finals of the Pan-American tennis singles.

Pauline Betz and Dorothy Bundy will vie today for the women's title. Segura got to the finals bracket by virtue of a win over Mexican Champion Armando Vega. He took each of three sets by the same score, 6-4. Vega battled the Ecuadorian all the way, but the latter proved too agile.

Talbert beat Rolando Vega, 6-1, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

Rutgers Will Open Season On Oct. 30

NEW BRUNSWICK, Oct. 16.—(INS)—The Rutgers lineup for its opening game against Lehigh October 30 was practically all set today. Don Anguli, a 200-pound senior, and Bob Day, 195-pound engineering student, will be tackles, with Jim Schottenger, utility lineman, and 250-pound Ed. Bowen as replacements.

SHORT ON AMMUNITION
One hundred twenty-five million water fowl will fly south from Canada this fall, the largest number in 20 years, while the hunters have less ammunition than at any time in 20 years.

CHARGES YOUTH WITH TAKING GAS COUPONS

BEAVER, Pa., Oct. 16.—(INS)—William Grimes, 17-year-old Vancourt youth, was being held for federal authorities today on charges of stealing 2,000 gasoline coupons from a Beaver service station.

Authorities said the youth admitted the thefts and that he had sold one sheet of stamps for $5 to a relative. Service station proprietor Albert A. Aikens reported sheets of stamps missing three times last month.

Lend-Lease Probe Will Start Soon

Full-Scale Investigation Of Operations To Begin About November 1

SENATE BODY TO CONDUCT PROBE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(INS)—The senate appropriations committee Friday decided to launch a full scale investigation of operations of lend-lease, to begin about November 1.

Sen. Kenneth McKellar (D) Tenn., acting chairman, said that the inquiry will be made in conjunction with the Senate Truman committee. "It will be a comprehensive inquiry and I think that the country will be satisfied," said McKellar. The decision was reached informally after a spirited two hour discussion behind closed doors during which one faction demanded that the Truman committee alone conduct the inquiry while another insisted that a special appropriations subcommittee be named.

In the end it was decided that both committees would inquire but that a separation of particular fields of activities will be worked out jointly.

Soldiers Must Wear Service Coat Now

GREENVILLE, Pa., Oct. 16.—The wearing of the field jacket or the service shirt without the service coat is prohibited off the post except under specific circumstances. Capt. Clyde W. Walker, post adjutant, Camp Reynolds, Penna., has announced.

The shirt may be worn without the coat on the post and may be worn at any time when performing official duties off the post or returning to or from such work.

The field jacket is authorized for wear under the conditions described above. Military Police have been instructed to enforce the regulations covering proper dress and offenders will be reported and punished.

Behind Our Armed Forces . . . the Flame of Natural Gas!

Without natural gas, war production today would be crippled. Natural gas today is a vital material of war, building guns, tanks, planes, ships and a thousand other items. That's why the Government asks everyone to "use Gas Wisely."

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

Letters intended for this column must be signed with name and address of writer.

AN APPRECIATION

October 14, 1943.

Mr. Fred L. Rentz, President
The News Company
North Mercer Street
New Castle, Pennsylvania.

Dear Mr. Rentz:

In the Third War Loan campaign the corporations located in Lawrence county more than doubled the quota we were asked to sell to them. This was the principal reason that Lawrence county was able to attain over 125 per cent of its quota.

We appreciate the support given to us by companies such as yours, not only in the corporate purchase of bonds, but also in the purchase of bonds by your employees and the assistance given by your company and your employees in various ways towards the promotion and sale of these securities.

We take this means of saying "thank you".

Sincerely yours,

W. WALTER BRAHAM,

County Chairman.

JOEL S. MCKEE,

County Co-Chairman.

ROGER JEWETT,

Deputy Executive Manager.

Urge Postponement Of Social Security Payroll Tax Boost

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Spokesmen for business urged the senate finance committee to recommend postponement of a scheduled two percent increase in the Social Security payroll tax on January 1.

The business spokesman declared that the reserve fund, out of which old age annuities can be paid, is increasing faster than congress contemplated. The increased tax would bring in one billion three hundred million annually.

Paul J. Daugherty, Columbus, O., representing the Ohio Chamber of Commerce, said that a group of organizations including 21 State Chambers of Commerce, opposed the payroll tax increase at this time.

"The rates are adequate," he said, "furthermore old age taxes are being used to finance the war and not for the special Social Security group. If forced savings are necessary they should be voted and not impose the whole burden on the special group of security taxpayers."

Pa. R. R. Clerk Goes To Cleveland Office

M. J. Paris, who has for a number of years held the position of lead clerk to the Pennsylvania railroad Erie & Ashabula division engineer at the office here, has received a promotion to the position of lead M. F. W. clerk at Cleveland, and will leave today to take up his new duties there. It was announced at the office today.

Paris will be succeeded as lead clerk here by Boyd G. Peterson, who is now employed at the local railroad office in another position.

Declares U. S. Raid On Schweinfurt Major Campaign

WASHINGTON, Oct. 16.—(INS)—Gen. H. H. Arnold, chief of the Army Air Force declared Friday that the Flying Fortress attack on Schweinfurt "was an engagement between large armies—a major campaign."

In a statement on the raid in which the United States lost 60 bombers and 583 crew members the general said:

"In a period of a few hours, we invaded German-held Europe to a depth of 500 miles, sacked and crippled one of her most vital enterprises."

"We did it in daylight and we did it with precision, aiming our explosives with the care and accuracy of a marksman firing a rifle at a bullseye."

He ranked the attack with the recent blasting of the Ploesti oil fields in Rumania.

"The success of the Schweinfurt attack will have a definite effect on the German war economy within a reasonably short period of time—in some extremely important phases within a month—and will result in shortening the war," Arnold declared.

On the basis of past experience, the general estimated that at least half of the 583 crew members who went down are believed to be alive as prisoners of war.

APPLES

Pennsylvania apples have a reputation almost world wide. Our boys in all countries carry with them the memories of our big red cheeked juicy apples.

Apples are of so many different kinds that every one may have his choice. There are the big mellow kind, the yellow sweet kind, the sour kind, the juicy kind, the hard cooking kind. They are red and yellow and green and russet.

Some of them must be eaten right away or they spoil. Some will keep for months.

They may be cooked in many different ways. They provide nutritious minerals and vitamins. One big apple supplies about 100 calories.

When cooked or made into pie, they add a delightful flavor, and aroma which help to stimulate the appetite.

The milk or crust or butter or cheese or other things provide most of the nourishment while the apple makes a good taste.

Applicants For Auto Operator's License To Appear Tuesday

State police in Sampson street, Tuesday, will examine prospective motor car operators. No tests were held October 12, because it was Columbus day. No doubt a large number of applicants will appear, hence they should be in line early Tuesday as the examinations will be conducted in the order of arrival at the station.

Applicants must have a learner's permit and be accompanied by a licensed operator. The latter's license must be signed. The applicant must also possess the signed registration card for the auto which will be employed in the examination. The car must be in good condition.
